Developing , analyzing, and maturing information prepares policy makers to act on threats and opportunities in the workplace, and marketplace. Element Yu commits to developing capability so that leaders can see “around the corner.”

The world is increasingly awash in information – yet few companies know how to harvest and harness this resource. Forward-looking companies realize that the same methods they use to glean operational and strategic intelligence, is increasingly applied to them as well. The market place contains many competitors, insiders, and individuals seeking advantage, leverage, or monetary gain. Protecting strategic plans, customer information, and intellectual property is paramount to navigating a highly competitive marketplace. When clarity of purpose exists, it leads to execution that generates more options, and more opportunities. Element Yu’s risk and advisory services aid organizational leaders by sharpening a company’s ability to focus on essential effort and protect company investments from loss, risk, misdirection, and misappropriation. Element Yu offers consulting service in the following areas,

- Product and Process Red Teaming engagements
- Intelligence programming and insider detection consulting
- Information lifecycle management for highly competitive industries and critical infrastructure
- Intellectual Property Protection Program Development
- Information Security consulting services
